Under the above Act most criminal convictions may be regarded as spent after a defined period and need not then be disclosed for employment purposes. However, jobs that involve work with either children or vulnerable adults are exempt from these provisions. This means that for all school based posts applicants are required to declare any criminal convictions including cautions, bindovers or no case to answer. If appointed, further vetting will normally require an enhanced Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) disclosure certificate to be obtained.

Do you have any criminal convictions to declare? (including cautions, bindovers or no case to answer).

ANSWERING QUESTIONS IN SECTION 3

This form seeks information on whether you consider yourself to have a disability. As the Disability Discrimination Act contains definitions of what is meant by “disability” or a “disabled person” and “substantial adverse effects” the following notes should help you to complete the answers relating to disability

Defining a disabled person:

A person has a disability if s/he has a physical or mental impairment which has a substantial and long-term adverse effect on his/her ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities. People who have had disabilities in the past are included.

Impairment:

Covers physical and mental impairment including learning disabilities and hearing and sight impairments. A mental illness could be included if it has a substantial effect on daily life.

Substantial Ill Effect:

Something which is more than a minor or a trivial effect and is beyond the normal differences in ability which exist among people

Long-term Effect:

One which has lasted or is likely to last for at least twelve months or for the rest of the life of the person. Therefore, loss of mobility due to a broken leg which is likely to heal within twelve months or a long-term illness which a person is likely to recover from within 12 months are not included.

Substantial effects of a disability which has ceased but is expected to recur at least once a year, for example rheumatoid arthritis or epilepsy, are included in the definition.

Normal day-to-day activities:

Those carried out by most people on a fairly regular and frequent basis. It does not include activities which are normal only for a particular person or a group of people, such as playing musical equipment or a sport to a professional standard, or performing a skilled or specialist task at work.

Impairment has a substantial adverse effect if it affects

Mobility

Speech, hearing or eyesight (excluding people who wear spectacles)

Manual dexterity

Physical co-ordination

Memory or ability to concentrate, learn or understand

Continence

Ability to lift, carry or otherwise move everyday objects

Severe Disfigurement:

Is included without any need to demonstrate that the impairment has a substantial adverse effect on ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities.

Progressive Illness:

Such as cancer; multiple sclerosis, HIV infection and muscular dystrophy are covered from the moment of diagnosis.

Access Requirements

These may include, for example, requirements relating to physical accessibility of the workplace, accessibility to information in different formats, their support in the way of aids or adaptations of equipment, or external help through work based assessments etc.
